A series of horizontal lines for handwriting practice. Each row consists of a solid top line, a dashed midline, and a solid bottom line. There are four such rows in total, providing a guide for letter height and placement.

This image shows a full page of handwriting practice paper. It features ten identical rows of horizontal guidelines. Each row is defined by three lines: a solid top line, a dashed middle line, and a solid bottom line. These lines are evenly spaced across the entire page to help learners practice consistent letter formation and alignment. The right edge of the page is bordered by a thick vertical black line.

A cartoon illustration of a young boy with curly hair, smiling and holding a stack of five books. He is standing on the left side of a page with horizontal lines for writing. The page has a solid top line, a dashed middle line, and a solid bottom line, repeated down the page. The boy is positioned on the left, with his head and shoulders visible. He has a friendly expression and is holding the books with both hands. The books are stacked vertically, with the spines facing outwards. The background is white with horizontal lines for writing.
