

Write a story about a day in the life of a bee.

If you could visit the White House or the Pentagon, which would you choose and why?

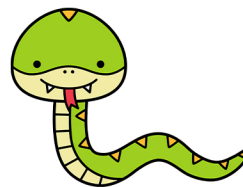

Imagine you were a firework. What would it be like?

Describe a day where you are a snail and you meet a frog.

Write a silly story about a snake that cannot stop sneezing.

If you could invent a new floating device, what would it look like?

Write a story about a summer camping trip.

If you could do anything with your family tonight, what would it be?

Tell about a time when you were hot and how you cooled down.

What is your favorite summer treat?

What would you do if a skunk came near your campsite?

Imagine if you were a giant watermelon. What would happen?
