Crossing Guard

Crossing guards are very important people when we go to and from school. They wear bright vests and hold a big stop sign to help us cross the street safely. They stand at the edge of the road and look both ways to make sure there are no cars coming. When it's safe, they step into the street and hold up their stop sign so cars will wait. They smile and wave for students to walk across the road. Crossing guards make sure we get to school and back home safely. We should always listen to them and say thank you for their help.
