Soccer and basketball are fun sports that people play. Both sports use a ball and have teams. In soccer and basketball, players try to score points. Both games need players to run and work together. Soccer is played on a big field, but basketball is played on a smaller court. Soccer players kick the ball with their feet, while basketball players dribble and throw it with their hands. In soccer, players try to kick the ball into a net, but in basketball, players shoot the ball through a hoop. Soccer has 11 players on each team, while basketball has five players on each team.
