

Always capitalize the letter I when it is used as a pronoun or as part of a contraction.

I went to the park last week with Sam.

After school, I'll meet John at the game.

There are multiple capitalization errors in these sentences.

Circle the errors that need to be capitalized.

Then rewrite the sentence correctly.

1. tomorrow i'll go to the park with bill.

2. i have two dogs named Max and tom.

3. my friend and i like to read.

4. can i have a snack please, miss ruth?

Always capitalize the letter I when it is used as a pronoun or as part of a contraction.

I went to the park last week with Sam.

After school, I'll meet John at the game.

There are multiple capitalization errors in these sentences.

Circle the errors that need to be capitalized.

Then rewrite the sentence correctly.

1. tomorrow i'll go to the park with bill.

Tomorrow I'll go to the park with Bill.

2. i have two dogs named Max and tom.

I have two dogs named Max and Tom.

3. my friend and i like to read.

My friend and I like to read.

4. can i have a snack please, miss ruth?

Can I have a snack please, Miss Ruth?