

TWO WORLDS: THE AQUATIC NYMPH

Nymph: The young, wingless stage of a dragonfly that lives underwater and looks very different from the adult.

Gills: Body parts a dragonfly nymph uses to breathe underwater.

Camouflage: Coloring or patterns that help an animal blend in with its surroundings to hide from predators or prey.

Pond: A small body of still water where dragonflies lay eggs and nymphs grow up.